

Joining the Global Convention – NOKUT's experience one year after

Dag Hovdhaugen, Director of Foreign Education
Norwegian Agency for Quality Assurance in Education

Norway's approval of the Global Convention

- The Global Convention on the Recognition of Qualifications concerning Higher Education adopted by UNESCO's Member States at the 40th General Conference on 25 November 2019.
- Approved by the Norwegian government and signed by the King on 7 May 2020.
- Instrument of approval registered with UNESCO on 8 June 2020, making Norway first country to join.
- How could it go so fast?

Renewed commitment to well-known principles

- Political significance: demonstrates UNESCO's Member States' wish to promote academic mobility and willingness to work closer together on establishing universal recognition principles.
- Facilitates interregional academic mobility.
- Extends recognition principles, practices and innovations from regional level to global level and develops further well-established principles and definitions.
- Builds on and complements long-standing commitments at regional level.

NOKUT's role in the process

- Took part in the drafting and intergovernmental negotiations leading up to the adoption in 2019.
- Provided advice to the Ministry of Education and Research.
- Assured the quality of Norwegian language translation in accordance with Norwegian recognition terminology.
- Why has this work been so important for NOKUT?

Reason no. 1: national policies for improved mobility

- Government white paper on student mobility (November 2020).
- Long term government objective: 50 % outbound mobility.
- Increase mobility to/from:
 - EU, North America, BRICS countries, Japan and Republic of Korea.
 - Non-English-speaking countries.

Reason no. 2: improved access to information

- The Global Convention
 - Affirms that information shall be shared free of charge.
 - Improves access to information about qualifications, education systems and QA mechanisms in other regions.
 - Connects regional networks of national information centres.

Reason no. 3: improved recognition practice

- The implementation structures of the Global Convention creates a platform for improving recognition procedures globally.
- Enables participation in collaborative projects with an interregional or global scope.
- In turn, this will improve our own practice and make us better equipped for assessing qualifications from all over the world.

What's next for NOKUT?

- With disrupted learning and admissions, COVID-19 has accentuated the need for better cooperation and information sharing globally.
- NOKUT will continue to support the Norwegian government and UNESCO's efforts to improve recognition practices and promote the Global Convention.
- Participates in UNESCO-led project on global qualifications passport for refugees (UQP project) in accordance with Art. 7 of the Global Convention and regional conventions.
